FAQ

To help with any questions you may have regarding personalized MY M&M'S®, we put together this FAQ.

Questions About the Product

Are all custom colors available for custom printing?

No. To ensure high quality, custom printing is currently only available on select colors. Color selection is limited to: aqua, blue, cream, dark green, dark pink, electric green, gold, green, light blue, light purple, light pink, orange, purple, red, silver, white, yellow, shimmer golden, shimmer platinum or shimmer pearl.

What color is the custom printing text?

Custom printed messages are black text. The “m” character is in gray.

Is the “message” safe to eat?

The ink is made from all food-grade ingredients, and all equipment, packaging, and methods meet our high standards of purity and quality.

Is there an “m” on the product?

There is always an “m” on one side of the M&M'S®.

Can I get it without the “m”?

No. The “m” is a symbol of the quality of M&M'S® Brand, and will always appear on the product.

FAQ (continued)

What can I print on the candies?

Each candy can be printed with: messages of up to 2 lines of text, featuring 8 characters per line, logos, images and faces.

There are restrictions on what you can print; we will not accept any order with vulgar or offensive content. Additionally, there are a variety of restrictions regarding trademarks, company names, and the like—these are outlined in our Terms and Conditions.

M&M'S® Milk Chocolate Candies are labeled “May Contain Peanuts”—does this also apply to custom printed M&M'S® Milk Chocolate Candies?

Custom printed M&M'S® Milk Chocolate Candies are made in facilities that also process peanuts, and all packages and party favors are labeled “May Contain Peanuts”.

Is this product kosher?

Yes.

How should I store my candies until my event?

They can be stored in the opened box until you're ready. We recommend removing the cold gel packs and allowing the product to reach room temperature. We do not recommend refrigerating.

Party favor sizes say “approximate” on the weight—why?

The total weight of your party favors with custom printed M&M'S® Milk Chocolate Candies will always be the same; but because of the way the candies are distributed, one party favor may have slightly more or less candy than another.

Questions About Ordering

Why are there artwork surcharges?

When personalizing your M&M'S® or packaging, our graphic artists take great care and time ensuring your personalization is perfect. There is a small charge associated with this service.

My company is outside the USA—can I order?

Please contact your distributor to discuss whether it's possible to ship our candies to your international address and, if so, the associated shipping costs.

What about Alaska and Hawaii?

All orders shipped to Alaska and Hawaii requires an additional shipping, please contact your distributor to obtain a quote.

Questions About Shipping and Returns

How are MY M&M'S® shipped?

For that reason, during the summer months, all orders are shipped using an overnight delivery method at no additional cost to you. Throughout the rest of the year, we utilize FedEx 2nd day shipment to ensure that the orders experience only a very short duration in uncontrolled environments.

PLEASE NOTE: Due to the perishability of our products, we do not ship over the weekends or for arrival on Mondays. All orders are shipped in insulated containers, and specific packaging procedures are used based on seasons and ship-to locations. Furthermore, if the order is being delivered to a particularly warm area, along with the use of our standard insulated packing liners, we include cold gel packs to make sure that your order does not melt.

We do recommend, however, that if you know the order is going to arrive in an area with any extreme weather conditions, you consider having the order shipped to a location where it will be picked up immediately or relatively soon after delivery.

How will I know when the product ships?

Please contact your distributor for shipping information.

Why do some items take longer to ship?

All custom printed M&M'S® Milk Chocolate Candies are made to order, so these require more time to produce and ship. If you need your order sooner, rush delivery is available for an additional fee.

Will my order arrive together?

Different levels of customization require different amounts of time to produce. Please see our shipping table for specific details.

Do you offer a rush delivery option?

Rush delivery is available for an additional fee.

Can I cancel my order?

STANDARD SHIPPING: Yes, you may cancel your order ONLY within 24 hours after placing your order. To cancel your order please contact your distributor.

RUSH DELIVERY: No, quality begins from the moment you place your order with us. To ensure that we meet your delivery request, your order is immediately moved to a processing status and work begins. To cancel your order, please contact your distributor.

Personalized Packaging

What can I print on the bag?

Our bags are printed with the highest quality, and therefore we request high quality artwork from you.

For our Full Color Personalized Packaging, please provide us with high quality files (typically found in these file formats: .ai or .eps OR in a high resolution .psd, .tiff or .jpg) with all fonts converted to outlines. Full Color Personalized Packaging uses a 4 color printing process which can reproduce nearly all artwork that is submitted.

For our One-Color Personalized Packaging, please provide us with, at minimum, a high quality JPG file in Black & White. The other file formats listed above are also acceptable.

What artwork do I need for the candy?

Any artwork submitted for the M&M'S® (Logos/Faces) should be high resolution (i.e. 300dpi). JPG or TIFF format preferred. We can accept vector artwork for logos.

How long does the ordering process take?
